Rhonda: Uh daddy, when did you say you were meeting with Mr. Schenke?

Frank: Next Thursday.

Rhonda: Well, as the oldest I was wondering what you—

Cordy: (Blurts out) I got in to Northwestern!

Frank: Hey, alright!

Edgar: Excellent work, young scholar.

Rhonda: Congratulations, Cordelia.

Gabby: Yeah, nice job.

Frank: (He raises his beer) Here's to Cordy, the next Barbara Walters!

All: Here, here!

Ralph: Let's go Wildcats!

All: Gooooo Wildcats!

Frank: Kiddo, I'm so proud of you. That's the best journalism school in the country!

Cordy: And the most expensive. I applied to a lot of places, just in case.

Ralph: Okay, the game's back on! (Ralph hits remote)

Announcer: And welcome back to Detroit, where the Lions and the Packers are just about ready to start the second half.

FRANK, RALPH AND EDGAR return to their seats.

Cordy: (Privately to RHONDA and GABBY) You two, quit being so selfish. Today's not about you. NO ticket talk. (She sits.)

Rhonda: Touchyyyyyy.

Gabby: Little bossy pants.

Gabby and Rhonda: She thinks she's mom.

They almost share a real moment, but instead glare at each other.

Gabby: I deserve them.

Rhonda: Don't get your hopes up.

Announcer: And the Packers will begin the second half at their own twenty yard line.

GABBY sits near FRANK

Edgar: Me'thinks 'tis time to visit the Bench-hole.

Others: Huh?

Edgar: I'm going to the bathroom. (He exits.)

Others: Ohhh.

Ralph: (Under his breath) There's something not right about that guy…

The lights fade on all but RHONDA.

Rhonda:
LOOK AT HER SITTING THERE
WITH THAT SMUG, OBNOXIOUS GRIN UPON HER FACE
THERE MUST BE A WAY
TO PUT DADDY'S LITTLE PRINCESS IN HER PLACE

SHE'S ALWAYS GOTTEN EVERYTHING SHE WANTED
ALL SHE HAD TO DO WAS BAT HER EYES AND POUT
WELL I'M SICK AND TIRED OF BEING THE POLITE ONE
THE GLOVES ARE COMING OFF, SO YOU BETTER WATCH OUT!

SFX: Lions 3 Packers 17

RHONDA exits. Lights up on the others.

Announcer: Here's the snap. Favre hands the ball to Dorsey Levens, and Levens falls into the endzone for the touchdown! My, oh my!

SFX: Lions 3 Packers 23
